

Periodically clearing cache can improve performance. As a result of clearing cache, the next time you login, a few additional files will be downloaded from your application server.